THEATORIUM THIS WEEK SOME GOOD PICTURES

Two more chapters of one of the greatest serials ever produced will be over, "The Broken Coin," with Grace Cunard and Francis Ford has gained in popularity each week of the twenty weeks that this serial has run.

No. 21 will be shown at this theatre today and tomorrow, and the thread of the story is just about wound up. All are anxious to see the concluding chapters, and they are full of interesting situations.

On the program today also is a two-part drama, "Honor Thy Husband," with Sydney Ayres and Doris Pawn.

in the title roles. This is a picture which every woman, married or single, should see. It teaches a good lesson to both wives and husbands, and is bound to be appreciated.

Thursday, the distinguished star of the legitimate drama, George Fawcett is here in "The Frame Up," a Broadway Universal Feature.

To put the street railway through for the easy money there was in it, the Big Boss knew he would have to elect his own mayor. The ward politicians said Alderman Luke Simms was "too honest," but the Boss nominated and elected him, saying, "Every man has his weak spot, and I'll find Luke's. But using Honest Luke as an easy way to 'graft,' even through his love for his wife, who, by the way, was the Boss' discarded mistress, was another matter. When the mayor's secretary discovered that the Boss had ruined his sister, things begin to happen, and the 'big fellow' learned that such trifling matters as love, fidelity, loyalty, honesty and self-sacrifice were mightier weapons that he had ever fought before. So the climax comes with a punch that thrills and leaves any audience gasping. George Fawcett's tremendous personality looms large in this big drama. Maude George plays a heavy emotional role, with gripping realism. Harry Carter makes a powerful and dominating boss. The balance of the cast is talented and well chosen. Otis Turner again proves his wizardry in both the story and the directing.

A Wonderful Antiseptic

Germ and infection aggravate ailments and retard healing. Stop that infection at once. Kill the germs and get rid of the poisons. For this purpose a single application of Sloan's Liniment not only kills the pain but destroys the germs. This neutralizes infection and gives nature assistance by overcoming congestion and gives a chance for the free and normal flow of the blood. Sloan's Liniment is an emergency doctor and should be kept constantly on hand. 25c, 50c. The $1.00 size contains six times as much as the 25c.

"ON THE BREAD LINE" AT THE MAJESTIC TODAY

Ralph Lewis, the histrionic star, is featured in a three-part Reliance drama at the Majestic today. This is a drama that is strong in theme and action and shows Mr. Lewis at his best.

Tuesday handsome Harold Lockwood, supported by May Allison, will be seen in the latest Mutual Master Picture in four parts, "The House of Scandals." This is a sensational drama which calls for great acting on the part of Mr. Lockwood and Miss Allison and all who see it will see that they are not found wanting.

One of the most extraordinary films of the past year is George Klein's latest product, "The Money Master," based on Cleveland Moffett's famous stage drama, "The Battle." It may truly be said to surpass anything of its kind in magnificence and constructive detail, requiring some four months to complete, and costing vastly in excess of modern features of its type. "The Money Master" is a story of the gold lust and the Ghetto, showing the two extremes of society from the mansion of the oil king to the tenement slums of the east side.

Frank Sheridan, long known to the theatre-going public for his remarkable work in similar roles, plays John Haggleton, the millionaire, flinty hearted business master, supported by Paul McAllister, Fania Marinoff and Malcolm Duncan. "The Money Master" will be seen at the Majestic theatre next Friday.

How to Prevent Croup.

It may be a surprise to you to learn that in many cases croup can be prevented. Mrs. H. M. Johns, Elida, Ohio, relates her experience as follows: "My little boy is subject to croup. During the past winter I kept a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in the house, and when he began having that croupy cough, I would give him one or two doses of it, and it would break the attack. I like it better for children than any other cough medicine because children take it willingly, and it is safe and reliable." Obtainable everywhere.

PALACE THEATRE OPENS TOMORROW AT 1 P. M.

The Palace Theatre on West Main street will open at 1 p. m. tomorrow (Monday).

This theatre has been in course of construction for several months, and after an expenditure of a large amount of money, in fact, a larger sum than has ever been spent in a like enterprise in southern Oklahoma, it is now ready for the public, and the doors will be thrown open tomorrow.

This theatre has 1,000 seats at 5 and 10 cents, and the attractions will be vaudeville and feature "movie" productions from the best makers of motion pictures in the country. Among those booked are the "V. L. S. E." Fox, Metro, Paramount, and World. These will be shown here every week and vaudeville will also be shown three times daily, except Sunday when it will be on once in the afternoon. The Lowenstein brothers and the Ardmore Amusement association are to be congratulated upon having the business foresight to construct such a theatre in this city, and it goes without saying that it will enjoy a good patronage, for Ardmore theatregoers have long waited for just such an opportunity of showing their appreciation.

The opening attraction will be vaudeville and Francis X. Bushman and Beverly Bayne in "Graustark."

This great photoplay, dramatized from the novel of George Barr McCutcheon, is one that has brought out the enthusiasm of every spectator who has viewed it. Exhibitors say that they have never had a photoplay that has brought such universal approval.

And "Graustark" is a play that finds a sympathetic chord in every heart. It is the story of a love behind a throne. There is no man or woman not interested in a love scene. When it becomes the love of conquest of a young American for a princess, it attains a romanticism that is overwhelming in interest.

It is no ordinary love, but a love of a man who is willing to sacrifice all—his life—for the woman to whom he has given his heart. This is what raises "Graustark" from an ordinary play and places it in the class of one of the world's greatest dramas.

Today at the Royal pretty little Beatriz Michelena will be here in a World Feature, entitled "Salvation Nell." This photoplay gives Miss Michelena ample opportunity of displaying her talents. She is a lovely little woman, and has many friends among movie fans, who will be glad to see her again. The orchestra will play at the Royal from 2:30 to 5 p. m. today.
